

Edsby Message From Ms. Eileen Daunt:

Dear Parents,

As we near a period of religious significance for many of us (Passover, Easter and Ramadan), I wanted to write to you on behalf of us all at Bayview Glen.

Although this is a difficult period for everyone, we wanted to wish you and your families all good things through this holiday season. Mostly, we wish you good health, safe times and strength.

Just over a century ago, the world suffered a devastating global pandemic. Now we are forging through another one. It is also fraught with dangers and uncertainty. But these are the times when humankind is able to rise to the challenge.

At Bayview Glen, we strive to compliment and embed the good values and ethics our students learn at home to help them prepare for their lives ahead. And those same values and ethics are precisely the ones we see being put into practice right now around the world.

Families, neighbours, and communities are reaching out to help one another. Governments are striving to be supportive, and a myriad of senseless barriers have fallen, or at least have been eased. This is what good global mutual respect is and should be about. And it all starts in our homes, our school, and in our community. It starts with each and every one of us.

I know we all share the hope we might, in the near future, return to a more normal school life. While the building might be closed, our community is more connected than ever. We wish you a very happy long weekend.

Sincerely,

Eileen Daunt
Head of School
